

FACTS and OBSERVATIONS

On a Trip to Wolfe County Circuit Court—Men, Their Offenses and the Penalties.

The writer left home on Monday afternoon to attend the Wolfe Circuit Court. At Torrent we took passage in a barouche. The roads were in fine condition. Our driver, apparently about twelve years old, said he was sixteen, and was the mail carrier. He evidently took us for a United States mail inspector, for he asked us if we opened the mail bags. Opening mail bags is a dangerous business, so we did not joke with him about that. You might have thought we were behind fiery steeds, if, when one of the horses stumbled, you had heard him say: "di up 'ere, ou ole debil." We made the trip, ten miles, in two hours and thirty five minutes, schedule time. As our driver was tongue-tied, we sympathized with him and asked few questions. While in town we were at the Combs House.

Hon. Frank Hopkins was there, having made a speech in the afternoon. The attendance on a first day of Circuit Court was large. Beside Mr. Hopkins there were several Legislative candidates present.

CIRCUIT COURT.

Judge Redwine presided and A. F. Byrd represented the Commonwealth. The juries of Wolfe county do not hesitate to enforce the law, and were it not for the exceeding sinfulness of sin one would think that lawlessness in Wolfe would rapidly decrease, and that men respecting the rights of their fellow men would live in peace, good-will and love, as they ought to.

We present most of the doings of the court for the first two days.

We regret that men so far lose control of themselves that they violate laws and commit crimes, but when they do, something must be done with a hope of saving them from like deeds again. This is one of the motives that prompts to the infliction of penalties.

How peaceful, prosperous and perpetual would be this country if men would only obey the laws of God.

We stayed at Campton till Wednesday at 2 o'clock. During that time we saw only one man who appeared to be under the influence of whiskey. He may have smelled a bottle or he may have drunk a pint. Some men are easily effected by intoxicants.

At Torrent we took delayed train and went to Jackson. After supper we strolled in the moonlight to see our friend, T. G. Denton, bookkeeper for Day Bros.

The streets were practically deserted. We saw three men coming and two going. Nobody shot at us, and we saw nothing suspicious. We had heard that people do not walk the streets much o' nights.

The bloodshed in Breathitt county cries out for vengeance. Terrible will be the retribution. "Vengeance is mine, I will repay saith the Lord."

Oh, why will men persist in their murderous way? Turn! Turn! Why will ye die?

We left at 6 o'clock Thursday morning. Our first stop was at

STANTON.

Wm. Conner aged about 65 years, died at his home near Stanton on Tuesday, Sept. 16, 1902, of pneumonia. A wife survives him. He is kinsman of Dick Conner, of Spencer.

The corn of Powell is fully up to the average.

J. S. Ewen and Ab Hall sold to Cas Prewitt, of Montgomery, some nice feeders, about 1100 lbs., at 4c. Wm. Bowen also sold him.

Hogs are scarce, few sales. Mrs. Tom Conlee, of North Fork, is seriously ill of typhoid fever.

Clay Turner and T. C. Quisenberry, of Montgomery, were in the county on Wednesday and Thursday looking for cattle. Q said that at Ford, Ky., was the "largest drying plant in the world."

In the jail there are now two prisoners—Charles Holmes, for robbing, and Tom Cockrell of Breathitt, for killing Ben Hargis. Cockrell has been here since May 1. We spent several minutes with him, but have no sensational story to tell. Our talk was for him.

At present there are only five announced candidates for Circuit Clerks: A. H. Norton, W. T. Stringer, V. C. Martin, H. T. Derickson, and M. R. Lyle, with other precincts to hear from.

On Thursday marriage license was issued to Santford Hall and Mrs. Carrie Townsend.

On Tuesday morning at Tea Table Shoals near Mouth of Walker's Creek in Lee county David Lucas and Chas. Hibbins became involved in a quarrel over 14 bushels of corn. Lucas shot Hibbins with a shot gun, killing him instantly.

Again we thank the officials of the L. & E. for the attractive landscape gardening at Natural Bridge.

We heard Rev. B. A. Jenkins preach in Winchester at night, and reached home at 9:47.
